FOREST GLEN TRAIL RUN

DANVILLE, ILLINOIS
OCTOBER 15 | ▲ 2,3

Forest Glen 5 myriameter trail race: Brand new race on a beautiful autumn day in Illinois. If you do not believe that single track, strenuous hill climbs and spectacular fall colours are compatible with an Illinois trail run, please reconsider. The Forest Glen Trail Run is a new event in a beautiful beech-maple registered Illinois Nature Preserve. A gem amongst corn and bean fields. The terrain is challenging, with four major and numerous smaller climbs on each of the 6 laps of the 5-mile course. As one participant put it, "The difficulty of the course started to dawn on me during the first loop... Lots of up and down. How much? Around 13,500 ft of climb and 13,500 feet of drop for a 30 mile race." A wonderful 40-ish degrees at the start, the day warmed to the mid 60's by afternoon, but the dense canopy and moderate consistent wind kept all runners cool. At the start, James Roche (24) ran away from the pack only to be seen again by his fellow runners when he had lapped each of us, at least once. He was heard to say, "nice course, if you got rid of the hills" on his last lap. He was probably the only racer to actually run any of the larger hills. He had more than an hour lead on his closest competitor, finishing in 5:09:27. James really went out to set a great PR, not just to win the race. Kudo's for a great run. Grand Master runners Bob O'Brien (6:14:25) and Jim Street (7:16:49) rounded out the first 3 places. The women's race was a woman's race with Danelle Much enjoying her visit to Illinois, from her home in Quad Cities, Iowa. Danelle ran a great race, looking very fresh at the end, finishing in 8:18:57. All racers were heard comparing their finish times and commenting that you would need to add 1 to 2 hours to your recent best 50K times to get an estimate of the finishing times at Forest Glen. The race had tremendous support of the Vermillion County Conservation District personnel and the course was in great shape thanks to the FMITA trail maintenance crew, including race co-director Mike Ingram. Put this race on your list if you like a challenge and appreciate a beautiful day in dense Illinois woods.
